Dear Mr. Lee,

I am a tenured instructor at Chabot College, where I hope to be working for the next 20 years or so, and I am very concerned about the proposed Russell City Energy Center in Hayward. If this plant is approved, I and other members of the Chabot community will be exposed to dangerous toxins, and this power plant isn't even benefiting the local community. As I understand it, the energy will be used elsewhere. Please do not approve this plant. We should be exploring renewable sources of energy rather than continuing to rely on fossil fuels.

Sincerely,

Michael Langdon
