FROM: Bay Area Air Quality Management District

RE: Permit Application #24382 for the following source of air pollution:

Soil Vapor Extraction System
Former Hewlett-Packard Company Facility
1201 Piner Road, Santa Rosa, CA 95403

The Bay Area Air Quality Management District (the "District") is a local agency that regulates stationary sources of air pollution such as factories, industrial sites, and gasoline stations.

Whenever we receive a permit application for a new or modified source of toxic air contaminants located within 1,000 feet of a school site, State law requires that we notify the public. To comply with this requirement, we distribute or mail a Public Notice to the parents or guardians of students enrolled at schools located within ¼ mile, and all residents and businesses located within 1,000 feet, of the proposed source.

You are receiving this Public Notice because a permit application has been filed with the District for the above referenced source of air pollution. A description of the proposed project follows:

To remedy an existing contamination problem, a Soil Vapor Extraction and Treatment System has been proposed for the Former Hewlett-Packard Company Facility. On behalf of Hewlett-Packard Company, Stantec Consulting Services Inc. has proposed a system consisting of a vacuum blower to extract solvent vapors from wells drilled at the site. Treatment of the extracted vapor will be accomplished by Carbon adsorption.

If you are interested in getting more information on the District's evaluation of this proposed project, you may request copies of the applicable staff report by calling the District at the telephone number listed at the end of this notice. This information also can be viewed or downloaded from the District website at:
