

I've been following all the contentious back and forth over this plant. I can't say I have all the facts and therefore really can't support either side at this time.< /o:p>

However, all the information I do have indicates gross negligence in compliance, allowing mercury to contaminate our air for several decades now and apparently for several decades to come.

What's the bottom line here? Why is this release of mercury allowed to continue? Surely with the hazards of mercury very well documented, surely you must have some rationale behind this apparent negligence. If you do, you should be immediately forthcoming with complete information including all detail, technical and otherwise.

A movement has started to force the issue. The driver here is a very strong one...the health of the children...this will not go away quietly.

Please provide any and all relevant information.

Thanks,
Nancy
