4. Strategy Development Activity

a. Summary

- i. Anna (Air District) reviewed instructions for the strategy development activity focused on two focus areas: PM, Dust, and Construction Impacts and Monitoring and Data. She explained that CSC members would engage with both focus areas. Each table would be supported by Air District Table Leads, CARB staff, and Technical Advisory Group members, to develop draft strategies and actions. The purpose of the exercise was to propose edits to the focus area descriptions and problem statements, as well as brainstorm strategies and actions
- ii. Ayah (Air District) presented on the Air District Toolkit, which CSC members could reference as a resource when developing strategies and actions. The toolkit divided levers of strategies and actions into three categories:
 1. Understand air pollution
 2. Provide information on air pollution
 3. Reduce the amount of air pollution we breathe,
- iii. Co-Chair Chalam encouraged members to dig deep and ask questions, especially if they were confused, or if the concept was high-level.
- iv. Robin (CSC) asked who would train members on the toolkit?

- v. Chalam followed up, saying community learning and involvement is essential, and that this action will be put in the CERP.
- vi. CSC members engaged in the Strategy Development Activity for an hour and then did a report out.
- vii. During the report out, CSC members from the four groups shared one strategy or action idea from their group or a key insight.
 - 1. Table 1: Co-Chair Chalam recommended looking into CAMPs (Community Air Monitoring Plans) from other communities and how they implemented them. Jun (CSC) added looking into air monitoring devices in disposal sites and places with asbestos and lead.
 - 2. Table 2: Sofia (CSC) shared an action about developing a community registration program for small businesses, for the types of trucks they use, and any generated revenue can be reinvested into Bayview. She also shared an action around starting a climate resiliency hub (like Richmond), and overall, continue creating programs that will invest in the community.
 - 3. Table 3: Uzuri (CSC) emphasized using the Air District's existing tools to educate the community, including deploying its mobile air-monitoring van in Bayview Hunters Point. She proposed organizing a separate community meeting where the Air District could engage directly with residents and share information.
 - 4. Table 4: Makayla (CSC) mentioned incentives for homeowners and landlords to upgrade air filtration systems in existing buildings. She also mentioned the need to adjust rules and policies to better handle the current air quality, and being mindful of redevelopment areas, including new and existing buildings. She also pushed the Air District to take on a bigger role when demolitions were happening.
 - 5. Co-Chair Nina shared a strategy around having better air monitoring across agencies. She mentioned that if the Air District isn't able to get more data, they should contract community-based organizations (CBO) to continue the air quality monitoring work they're already doing.
- viii. Uzuri (CSC) asked the Air District to send transcribed notes back to CSC members, by the next CSC meeting, so they can analyze them and make sure nothing was missed.
 - 1. Wendy (Air District) agreed and committed to bringing back the notes to the CSC.
