The Committee and staff discussed Marin County’s recently-adopted resolution to adopt a vehicle purchasing policy that aligns with the State of California, and the County’s Fleet Conversion, that will help the County reach its Assembly Bill 32 & Senate Bill 375 climate change targets; concern about potentially reduced availability of clean vehicles, leading to higher costs for fleet purchases; the anticipated timeline of the implementation of the finalized draft of the Air District’s policy; concern that the public will continue to purchase their preferred choice of vehicles, unaware of, or, despite, the ongoing lawsuit between the federal government and California over fuel economy standards; the amount of Toyota vehicles within the Air District’s current fleet, and if/when those assets will be phased out and replaced with vehicles by manufacturers that support California’s authority to set emission vehicle standards; California’s Clean Vehicle Rebate program and anticipated impacts to vehicle sales in the Bay Area; the Air District’s predictions regarding the actions of the manufacturers that currently support the federal government; the history and current status of California’s waiver for specified emission standards, and how, until a new standard is created, a divergence from the California waiver does not exist; the need for local jurisdictions to support the state’s authority to set its own emission vehicle standards; opinions regarding the likelihood that the manufacturers that currently support the federal government will reconsider their current actions; and the suggestion of refraining from using the words “good” and “bad” manufacturers.
