Air District hosts upcoming refinery community air monitoring workshops in Rodeo & Benicia

Workshops Thursday in Rodeo & Monday in Benicia

SAN FRANCISCO – The Bay Area Air Quality Management District is hosting two upcoming workshops in Rodeo and Benicia on Thursday, March 1 and Monday, March 5 from 6 – 8 p.m., regarding the implementation of additional air monitoring in communities located near refineries.

At the workshops, the public will have an opportunity to learn about current and upcoming monitoring at or near refineries, ask questions of Air District staff, share information about their communities and their ideas about future monitoring efforts.

The Air District has been measuring air quality since 1962 when it established the first regional ambient air monitoring system in the nation. The current effort to expand monitoring around Bay Area refinery communities will add to the Air District's already extensive network.
